Hello there!

My name is Rosie but you may know me as Hey Shermie.

I've always been a visual artist & cartoonist, but my work as an illustrator started shortly before I moved to New York City in 2019.

I went to art school for 7 years, then undergrad for Psychology – I've always loved capturing people, personalities, and the essence of what makes us who we are, which is a huge part of why I'm so drawn to portraiture.

I love taking on commissions & live drawing events whenever I have availability.*

*Please note that my bandwidth may be impacted by my day-job, as I am currently working as a full-time Senior Product Designer at SPANX.
